

30TH CONGRESS OF NORDIC HISTORIANS

CALL FOR PAPERS

On 8–11 August 2022, the 30th Congress of Nordic Historians will be held in Gothenburg, Sweden. The main theme is GLOBAL AND LOCAL and the keynote speakers are Professor Maya Jasanoff, Harvard University (USA) and Professor Poul Holm, Trinity College Dublin (Ireland).

The congress theme emphasizes the connections between the global and the local and how they influence each other. Over the last few decades, global perspectives and topics have become more prominent within historical scholarship, while academic research in itself has continued to undergo a globalisation process. However, global phenomena are always shaped by local conditions which in turn are affected by global factors. Approaches that explore the relationship between the global and the local – or that in other ways address or problematise issues of different scales in the study of the past – are therefore important for both academic and societal reasons.

We especially invite proposals for papers, thematic sessions or panels relating to the main theme, but other topics are also most welcome. The deadline for submissions is 15 January 2022 and proposals should be submitted via the congress website at nhm2022.se.

Welcome to the 30th Congress of Nordic Historians in Gothenburg!
